

Will Use New Station In Less Than Ten Days

Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon Improvements Near Completion—All of $1,500,000 Will Be Expended.

Passengers on the Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon railway will be landed at the new station at Pennsylvania avenue and Twelfth street within ten days, according to announcement made yesterday by Superintendent Joseph Colvin. The tracks from Fourteenth street to the new station were completed yesterday and the station is about ready. The carpenters will complete their work the coming week.

The laying of the new double track has commenced at both ends of the line, and at Four Mile Run. Workmen are also engaged in grading from the Virginia end of the old Long bridge to the new Highway bridge for the tracks that are to be laid to and over the new structure. The steel rails for this work are coming from the Pennsylvania mills rapidly.

Several of the new motors and cars have been received from the Brill Company of Philadelphia, and Superintendent Colvin said that these would be put in operation as soon as the new station is receiving passengers.

Will Spend All of $1,500,000.
"We will spend every cent of the $1,500,000 appropriated on improvements," said the superintendent, "and when all of this has gone into the road, it will be one of the best equipped in the United States."

In speaking of the conditions that caused so much criticism not long ago, the superintendent said that all obstacles had been removed, and that, except in case of accident, there is no more delay in schedules.

"With the opening of the new railroad bridge," he continued, "the worst cause of delay passed. The crush on Long bridge ended, and we were enabled to get our cars through. Then the extraordinary rough winter, which tied up things some, is over, and before the next one comes we will have in operation $500,000 worth of rolling stock that no kind of weather can tie up."

Prof. McGee—Life is awfully true, some at best. Have you not sometimes wished, with the psalmist, for the wings of a dove, that you might fly away and be at rest?

DEATH FROM TUBERCULOSIS HASTENED BY ACCIDENT

Injuries which William Schofield, forty years old, of 227½ E. street southwest, received on November 2 on the Pennsylvania railroad at Sixth street and Virginia avenue, are believed to have hastened his death, which occurred at Providence Hospital last night.

He was taken to the Emergency Hospital suffering from a fracture and lacerations of the legs. He suffered a great deal and grew weaker each day.

The railroad company finally had him removed to Providence Hospital, where it was discovered that he was suffering from tuberculosis. Because of his weakened condition he was unable to combat the disease and died last evening.

MYSTICAL NUMBERS.
The philosophy of Pythagoras was founded on numbers, and the so-called mystical numbers have always interested thinkers. Nine, for instance, is one of them. A cat is said to have nine lives. There are nine crowns in heraldry; possession is "nine points of the law." The whip for punishing evildoers has nine tails, the idea being that flogging by a trinity of trinites is more efficacious. The hydra has nine heads. Leaves are for 30 and 90 years. The angels were cast out of heaven and nine days they fell. There would seem to be some mystical charm in the number nine, else it would not be mentioned in so many curious connections. At least it is pleasant to imagine so.—Boston Globe.
